

Advanced Endoscopy
Associate Professor or Professor
Division of Gastroenterology and Hepatology
Department of Medicine

Stanford University is an equal opportunity employer and is committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty. It welcomes nominations of and applications from women and members of minority groups, as well as others who would bring additional dimensions to the university's research, teaching and clinical missions.

The Division of Gastroenterology and Hepatology in the Department of Medicine at Stanford University seeks an Academic Advanced Endoscopist to join the Division as an Associate Professor or Professor in the Medical Center Line.

The major criteria for appointment for faculty in the Medical Center Line shall be excellence in the overall mix of clinical care, clinical teaching, and scholarly activity that advances clinical medicine.

The successful candidate will be expected to have expertise in endoscopic retrograde cholangiopancreatography (ERCP) and endoscopic ultrasound (EUS) as well as at least one of the following: peroral endoscopic myotomy (POEM), endoscopic submucosal dissection (ESD), interventional EUS, or bariatric endoscopy. It is also expected that the successful applicant will be an established academic gastroenterologist and therapeutic endoscopist with at least 5 years' experience with an established record of clinical service, research and teaching. The candidate must hold an MD and be board certified in gastroenterology, possess or be able to obtain a California medical license.

The selected candidate will join a collegial team of dedicated and talented physicians and staff thriving in a dynamic clinical practice with cutting-edge technology. The Division of Gastroenterology and Hepatology offers:

- Academic tertiary care with established fellowships in Therapeutic Endoscopy, Gastroenterology and Hepatology, and Liver Transplantation
- A state-of-the-art Therapeutic Endoscopy Unit
- Opportunities for leadership positions within the Division
- Facilities and support for endoscopic research

Interested candidates should submit a detailed letter of interest, curriculum vitae, and three letters of recommendation to:
