

Department of Medicine
Division of Endocrinology

Academic Endocrinologist

The Division of Endocrinology, Gerontology and Metabolism in the Department of Medicine at Stanford University School of Medicine invites applicants for two full-time faculty positions at the rank of Assistant Professor, Associate Professor or Professor in either the Medical Center Line or University Tenure Line. Applicants should be interested in basic and/or translational/clinical research in any area of endocrinology, with interests in diabetes or obesity desirable. Applicants should be MD or MD/PhD, board-eligible or certified in endocrinology, and should have a strong record of scholarly and clinical accomplishments. Independent grant funding (or, for junior candidates) the potential to obtain grant funding as an indicator of scholarly productivity, publication record and programmatic synergy will be considered. The successful candidate will be expected to obtain a California Medical License.

Rank will be determined by the qualifications and experience of the successful candidate. The predominant criteria for appointment in the Medical Center Line are excellence in the overall mix of clinical care, clinical teaching, and scholarly activity that advances clinical medicine, and institutional service – appropriate to the programmatic need the individual is expected to fulfill. The predominant criterion for appointment in the University Tenure Line are major commitment to research and teaching.

Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. Stanford also welcomes applications from others who would bring additional dimensions to the University's research, teaching and clinical missions.

Applicants should upload a copy of their current CV, a brief letter outlining their interests and e-mail addresses of three potential referees to: <http://facultyapplication.stanford.edu>

Referees will not be contacted without consent.

